THE BANANA TRADE.

Exportation of the Fruit from Jamaica.
—The Cultivation and Marketing of This Delicious and Wholesome Article of Diet.

The export of bananas from Jamaica to America has of late years become important. The Atlas Steamship Company, trading between Jamaica and New York, carries at least 10,000 bunches of bananas every month, besides other steamers trading with Kingston. The Atlas steamers call for this favorite fruit at Kingston, Port Morant, Morant Bay, and Annapolis Bay. The other companies' vessels carry from 5,000 to 10,000 bunches per month. Besides this large quantity of bananas, there are from 10,000 to 15,000 barrels of oranges exported from the island to New York, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia and other ports. The banana tree bears but one bunch in its life; and when this is cut the tree dies, leaving, however, a numerous sucker, which soon comes up, and thus replace the old tree. The growth is very fast; it is going on all the year round. Some bunches weigh as much as 150 pounds, the average being from 80 to 100 pounds. The average number of bananas on each bunch is about 1200. The fruit is very delicate, and requires much care in cutting, transit and shipping. Too much heat in the hold of the ships will ripen it too quickly, so that often a whole shipload may arrive in New York worthless and rotten. On the other hand, an excess of cold will chill the fruit, so as to make it unfit for the market. The proper temperature should be from 50 to 60 degrees in the hold. The best fruit steamers trading in the West Indies are especially ventilated for the purpose. Women, who are the principal workers in the field, carry the bunches on their heads, from the trees to an open spot, where they are packed in crates, to be taken down to the store at the seacoast. In their working dress, as in most parts of the West Indies, the women tie a string round themselves, and then, drawing the dress up through it, succeed in arranging the dress short enough, so that they may not be prevented from walking freely. The carriage of the fruit to the shore is undertaken by both sexes, the men, driving mules and pony carts (and many quiet races take place on the road), and the women carrying bunches on the head— young girls coming in for their share of the work. The fruit is then carefully packed in large sheds to await the arrival of the steamer, which has, of course, either been telegraphed, or is known to be due on a certain day. On board the Atlas steamship, the bananas arrived quite green, but in five days they were ripened in quite an alarming manner. This shows that judgment is necessary for the proper picking and packing to insure the arrival of the fruit in America in good condition. Immediately on the arrival of the vessel in the port or bay the process of loading small boats is begun. This is done, of course, again by women; the only men to be seen about are the overseers and contractors. The boats, when full, are moved alongside the steamer, and the fruit is carefully packed away in the hold. The steamer I was on actually took on board 15,000 bunches, which seemed to change but very little on the voyage. It is a favorite fruit in America, and is continually advancing in public taste. There is a market in Kingston, Jamaica, every day, but Tuesdays and Saturdays are the busy days. The Gordon Town road, from a very early hour, presents a curious sight, with the native villagers coming into town to sell their produce. They bring incalculable baskets, full of yams, bananas, peppers, beans, and home-made cakes, piled up one on top of the other, each basket on a woman's head. They come a great distance, many of them twenty or twenty-five miles, and return the same day or night, most of them preferring to do the walk home at night, when it is cool. One cannot go far in the West Indies without seeing a rum shop; bread is also to be bought at the same shop. I have no doubt that the poor douglos, with I think are badly used, are very glad of the rest— correspondents.

HIS GOOD EXCUSE.
The Boy Had the Making of a Great Lawyer in Him.
Mrs. Smith was sitting in the kitchen the other evening when a low sad wail fell upon her ear. At the same time there came a timid knock at the front door. Opening it suddenly a pitiable sight met her gaze. There stood little Johnny, his breast heaving with suppressed sobs, and covered with mud from head to foot. Indeed, it was hard to tell which was Johnny and which was mud.

Mrs. Smith gazed at him for a moment in speechless rage, then catching him by the arm she dragged him into the house.

"Noo, ye wee wretch," she cried, "answer me truly—What in the world has ye been, an' what has ye been doin'?"

"Boo-hoo," sobbed Johnny, in terror. "I hiven been doin' anything. T'ist fell down in the glaur."

"Fell down in the glaur?" repeated his mother. "Masstie, was'till yer father comin' hame, an' ye'll see what ye'll get for fallin' down in the glaur. What does ye mean by it? An' yer new knickerbockers, too, clean spilt!"

"Boo-hoo," cried Johnny, in despair. "I hadna time ter tak' them off when I felt masel' fall."

The mother's face relaxed, and a smile gradually broke over her features. For once in his life Johnny managed to escape with an admonition.

Business Principles.
A man went into a provision store in Boston the proprietor of which was German.

"How much do you ask for your sausage?" he inquired.

"Twenty cents."

"Can you buy them for a shilling of Mr. Smith?"

"Ye didn't, Sam?"

"He was all out of them."

"Oh, well, I shall miss sausage for a shilling, too, but I shall not miss Mr. Smith."

The "Dollar a Day" Lie Nailed—The Senate Tariff Bill Nearly Ready—Miscellaneous.

A BIG SCHEME.

New York as the Silver Market Center of the World.

New York, Sept. 6.—The scheme to make New York the silver market center of the world, through the Mexican Mortgage Bank, has been the subject of discussion in financial circles to-day. A representative of H. B. Hollins & Co. informed your reporter this afternoon that the contract had been signed by H. M. de Thyselaert and Maurice L. Guiraud of this city with the Mexican Mortgage Bank by which the plan of the syndicate could be carried into effect.

Jordan, ex-Treasurer of the United States, says the Western National Bank has nothing to do with the scheme as reported. At the United States Sub-Treasury the Assistant Treasurer and his subordinates refused to speak of the plan.

Ex-Treasurer Jordan expresses doubt whether New York can be made the silver market of the world, because England competes with us by issuing Indian silver certificates.

It is learned that Hollins & Co. have not yet received the concessions, but their representative is on his way here with them. A member of the firm said: "We will get a charter from the Mexican Government for a bank, and in connection with that are certain concessions. It will be the biggest in Mexico. One-third will be owned in Mexico, one-third in this city and one-third in Europe. We shall issue silver certificates negotiable all over the world based on silver deposits in New York. I also think we will have the right to issue notes which will be made legal tender against securities deposited with us, and that will increase the circulating medium of the country. I also think we shall have the right to undertake public improvements and make contracts therefor under the concessions obtained. The bank will probably have a representative in Mexico of Baring Brothers of London. The President of Mexico and Secretary of the Treasury are interested in the bank. The Bank of Mexico which we have purchased, has been successful and has paid dividends of nine per cent for many years."

FIVE VESSELS WRECKED.

A Furious Storm Amid the Frozen Northern Seas.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The United States Revenue Cutter Bear, Captain Healy, arrived from the Behring sea this morning.

She brings information that on August 3d, while most of the whaling vessels were anchored between Cape Smythe and Point Barrow, a furious storm occurred and the following vessels were wrecked: The Barks, Mary and Susan, Young Phoenix, Fleetwing, and the schooners Jane Grey and Lou. The crews of the last vessels, 109 in number, were rescued by the Bear and brought to this city.

All of the rescued seamen say that the storm was the worst ever known at the Point. When the wind commenced the whaling fleet sought shelter at the east side of Point Barrow, but the wind shifted and increased to a gale. Nearly all the vessels commenced to drag their anchors and to thump against the bottom, as the water was not very deep there. Every effort was made to save the vessels. Most of those that escaped destruction were more or less injured.

Mei g. The cutter Bear rode out the storm in safety, and as soon as possible rendered valuable assistance to the distressed mariners and started for San Francisco at once, as provisions were getting scarce. The cutter Thetis was left with the remainder of the whaling fleet.

THE TARIFF.

The Senate Sub-Committee Nearly Ready to Report.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Finance engaged in the preparation of the Tariff bill, has received the second print of the new Tariff bill. It contains, interlined with the text of the bill, tables prepared for the convenience of the sub-committee, showing in parallel columns the rates by the present law, those by the Mills bill and those provided in the new bill. It is the last print to be made before the measure is laid before the full committee next week. The members of the sub-committee and experts are now preparing the matter for the report to accompany the bill. The testimony and statements made to the sub-committee, making about fifteen hundred pages in print, will be formally submitted to the full committee with the bill and report.

THURMAN OVERWORKED.

He Fainted at a Democratic Meeting in New York City.

New York, Sept. 6.—At the opening of his address in Madison Square Garden this evening Thurman fainted and was carried to his hotel. When Thurman attempted to speak he was unable to make himself heard even ten feet from the platform, and after speaking a few sentences withdrew from the speaker's stand.

LATER—As Thurman stepped forward to the speaker's stand, and stood erect wiping the perspiration from his face with the famed bandana, the wildest excitement followed. Every one having a seat stood upon it. Bandanas and flags were waved and the crowd cheered and cheered again, drowning into muffled sounds the strains of the band. The cheering continued for fully five minutes, and then with a voice so feeble that only those within a few feet of him could tell, except by motion of his lips, that he was speaking, Thurman said: "Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: It has been said by the Republican papers since I was nominated for the Vice Presidency that Allen G. Thurman is an old, frail, decrepit and broken-down man. I do not know what I should reply to this, although I well know that I am in no condition to-night to speak to an immense audience such as this is. However, I want to speak, and in spite of my illness, I am almost induced to make an attempt. I beg leave, however, to withdraw and thank you for your kind reception."

A hush fell upon the assemblage as all saw that the hero of the evening was trying to speak to them, but was unable to do so. Colonel Brice and Mr. Flower stepped forward, and each taking Thurman by the arm assisted him back from the speakers' stand. He was almost fainting, and for a few minutes was too sick to be removed from the building.

When he had recovered sufficiently Judge Thurman was taken in a carriage direct to the ladies' entrance of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, accompanied by Brice and Barnum and his son, Allen W. Thurman. The Judge was conducted to his room and was attended by Dr. Goldthwaite, the hotel physician. The latter applied remedies, and later it was said that the distinguished patient would be all right in an hour or two. Dr. Goldthwaite said that the Judge had been attacked with cholera morbus at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, and he had advised his patient to not exert himself by attending the big meeting, but Judge Thurman insisted upon going to the Madison Square Garden, notwithstanding the advice of his physician.

Barum came out of Thurman's apartment in a little while, and though he looked seriously worried, announced that Thurman would be all right in a couple of hours. In the sick room remained Mr. Brice, Allan W. Thurman, his son, and the physician.

Allan W. Thurman sent this dispatch to his mother at Columbus late to-night: "If you see reports in the morning paper about father being sick, don't be alarmed. It is simply an old-fishioned case of cholera morbus, and he is all right now."

NEVADA TIMBER LANDS.

Senator Stewart Stirrs Up the Acting Secretary of the Interior.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The Acting Secretary of the Interior to-day sent to Congress all the papers—except such as "should be held for purposes of justice"—called for by the resolution of Mr. Stewart, asking upon what authority and information the Commissioner of the General Land Office based his assertion that the amendment introduced by the Senator was in the interest of mining corporations and against the interest of the settler. In one communication the Commissioner says no suits have been recommended in Nevada except against the powerful and wealthy corporations, and these have been based not upon informers' testimony but upon the reports of special agents of the Department. He characterizes as groundless the complaint that special agents act as spies upon the people of Nevada, and says that no special agents were in Nevada for several years until they were sent there to investigate the facts in cases of offers of compromise received from mining companies for unlawful cutting of timber, and endorsed by Senator Stewart. He reiterates his statement that the proposed amendment would be unjust to the settler, and quotes from the report made by a special agent of the Department to show that it is by smelting works and men who burn charcoal for a living who are engaged in this wholesale timber cutting, and that the miners, proper, are bitterly opposed to it.

The "Dollar a Day" Falsehood.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 7.—Harrison spent the entire day looking over his correspondence which had accumulated since his absence. In the course of a conversation reference was made to the fact that an effort had been attempted to prove that said "A dollar a day is enough for any laboring man." He said that he had not seen the evidence in full, but had seen a number of newspaper references to it, and as he understood it he was placed in the attitude either of a dunce or a brute. He characterized it as a falsehood and did not think it would result in any change of votes, the only object for which it was started.

The New Hampshire Republicans have nominated Charles A. Amosden for Governor.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES.

Lester Wallace died of apoplexy yesterday at Stamford, Connecticut.

The Democrats of Wisconsin have nominated James Morgan of Milwaukee for Governor.

In the Senate yesterday a resolution was introduced by Stewart to investigate the use of money expended by the Interior Department in the protection of timber lands.

DeLesseps read a paper yesterday at a meeting of the British Association at Bath. He said that he was confident that ten locks of the Panama Canal would be completed by 1890.

A bill was reported from the Senate Committee on Military Affairs yesterday authorizing the President to appoint General George Stoneman of California, Colonel of Infantry in the Army, as the retired list.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Beware of the politician who says he does not want office. He is fooling thee.

What Nashby don't know about Washoe county politics is not worth knowing.

The Democratic slogan—Down with free suffrage at the South and up with Free Trade at the North.—Rochester Democrat.

The work of "harmonizing" the Democratic party in Reno does not seem to make that progress that truly good men could desire.

It is well to notice that the most the Democrats can do with the great drift away from their party is to try to explain it; they can't deny it.

The Democrats of Washoe county do not seem to have any particular favorite for Senator. In this, as on many other questions, they appear to be all broke up.

Ex-Senator Thurman says that the Tariff is taking $113,000,000 yearly which the Government does not need. Then why did the Democratic House appropriate all but $14,000,000 of this sum?

Enthusiasm for the Republican ticket need not move "on to Richmond." It has got there. A Harrison and Morton club has been formed there out of no other material than converted Democrats.

"The trouble in the political world of Reno," said a disgruntled politician to-day to a GAZETTE representative, "seems to be the number of great men who have set their stakes here. When too many mighty intellects come together there is always a clash."

The greatest enthusiasm prevails at the Republican National headquarters, in New York, over the encouraging reports that continue to come in from Connecticut, New Jersey and Indiana, close calculations declaring that in any of the States mentioned nothing can prevent the Republicans from winning.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence.

Read the jobs.
The condition of Nate Hoff is still critical.
Democratic County Convention to-morrow.
Voters should not neglect to get registered.
Tom Herman of Wadsworth is at the Depot hotel.
John W. Mackay is expected on the Comstock Sunday.
Clean up the alleys and back yards in time for Fair week.
The east-bound passenger train was five hours late this morning.
Miss Lillian Borton is expected to arrive from San Francisco to-morrow morning.
Mountain fever and summer complaints are afflicting the good people of the Capital City.
The marriage bells will ring joyfully in honor of a young couple of Reno on Tuesday evening next.
The assessment of twenty-five cents a share levied on Mexican will be delinquent on the 10th instant.
Charley Leeper and Tom Keating departed last evening for Sacramento to attend the California State Fair.
The Hawthorne Bulletin says typhoid fever prevails in Reno. Another stab from the envious of less-favored burgs.
Frank Emmitt, our next State Senator, will shortly proceed to his ranch in order to take a good rest preparatory to canvassing the county.
The principle mines in Silver Peak district, Esmeralda county, have been bonded to an English syndicate and work is to be resumed there on an extensive scale.
Frank Boskowitz, the traveling talking machine of the well-known cigar house of William Lewis & Co., San Francisco, is talking politics and sampling cigars in Reno to-day.
Carson Tribune: Carson river is so low at this time that a person can walk across from the head clear down to below the Santiago mill. Never in the history of Nevada has the river been so low.

Gold Hill is putting on metropolitan airs. The trustees of the Episcopal Church have been requested to remove the church's heltry as it is claimed that it encroaches on the line of the street.
The Board of Commissioners of Storey county are philanthropic cusses. They have just allowed a bill for $125 for an artificial limb for a widow, residing in Flowery district, who is on the indigent list.
John Henderson, Chief of Police of Virginia City, has been asked to resign his office by the County Commissioners of Storey county, on account of being almost continuously incapacitated from performing the duties of his office from the effects of drunkenness.
Virginia Enterprise: A young lady of the Divide has recently been masquerading in male attire. The injury she has done the pants she borrowed is nothing compared to what her reputation has suffered. A simple needle and thread can mend the pants.

The loss of the Southern Pacific Company through recent snowed fires on the western slope of the Sierra, along the line of the Central Pacific railroad, is estimated at $200,000, and the loss through the destruction of timber and fuel will probably exceed $500,000.
Character Reading.
Dr. J. L. Meyer gave an exhibition last evening of his skill in character reading to a select assemblage in the parlor of the Golden Eagle hotel. The occult powers of Dr. Meyer are certainly of an extraordinary character and prove interesting to any one desiring to "know thyself." A number of ladies and gentlemen were last evening made aware of their mental characteristics and physical peculiarities, and in some cases their peculiarities were amusing when thus made known by an entire stranger. This writer was made the first one to face the music, and was startled when informed that he was a long-lived race of people. This fact coupled with no government bonds nor bank account is a sorry promise to old creditors. The doctor touched our pride when he said we appreciated a good joke, but could not originate one. This saddens the prospect of a long life, but the doctor is quite correct. He said the GAZETTE pressman was a great joker, and liked money only to spend it, a characteristic his fellow prints are well aware of. The ladies submitting to the tests were astonished at the revelation of domestic peculiarities, but confessed with smiles the correctness of the doctor's readings. Dr. Meyer will give demonstrations at the homes of any desiring to investigate this subject, and he will privately diagnose disease and make known "the ill that flesh is heir to." After the Fair he will give public demonstrations.

Straw Hats Given Away.
The Opera House Dry Goods Store will from this date give to any gentleman purchasing five dollars worth and over of men's and boys' underwear or blankets his choice of any one of the large stock of our fine straw hats free, as we are anxious to dispose of our straw goods for this season in order to make room for other lines of dry goods that are daily arriving. We hope that any gentleman who wants a nice straw hat will appreciate this opportunity as it is a bona fide offer for reasons as above stated. C. W. BOOTS.

Not a California Bear.
Anybody can catch a cold this kind of weather. The trouble is to let go, like the man who caught the bear. We advise our readers to purchase of Osburn & Shoemaker a bottle of SANTA ABIE, the California King of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs and Croup Cures, and keep it handy. 'Tis pleasing to the taste and death to the above complaints. Sold at $1 a bottle, or three for $2.50. CALIFORNIA CAT-R-CURE gives immediate relief. The Catarrhal virus is soon displaced by its healing and penetrating nature. Give it a trial. Six months' treatment $1, sent by mail $1.10.

Fryer's Abietene Ointment—A combination of the Gum Abietene, Vaseline and other Therapeutic Agents. The best healing and purifying remedy in the world, for Piles, hemorrhoids, itching and all eruptions of the skin. Price 25 cents. Sold by Wm. Plummer. All genuine Abietene preparations bear the fac-simile signature of D. F. Fryer.

IRRIGATION IN NEVADA.
The State to be Helped by Congress—Politics in California—Judge Beatty's Nomination—The Terry Rumpus.
That irrigation must necessarily be the most important question in the future development of Nevada is apparent to every well-informed citizen of the State. Although the so-called Irrigation bill was not passed by the last Legislature, a law was enacted which may be of great benefit to the State if its provisions be observed. Among other duties imposed on the State Board of Irrigation is to ascertain the positions of the water-courses of the State, giving facilities for the utilization of the same for irrigation and waterpower. (See Statutes of Nevada, 1887, page 91.) If this be done, the next Legislature will have something upon which to base its action. It will not be groping about blindly in the dark, as other Legislatures have had to do.
The Lyon county Times favors the building of reservoirs on the Carson river for the purpose of hoarding the surplus water which runs to waste every spring and autumn. This could be easily done. At the headwaters of the east Carson there is a deep gorge where a dam 150 long would hold all the waters of that branch of the river. I have never visited the west fork, but have been told that the natural facilities there are equally good. Some complications might arise from the fact that the headwaters of this river are in California, but I do not believe these difficulties are insurmountable. The experiment is worth trying. The Times favors building the reservoirs in the State. This plan also could probably be carried to a successful conclusion.
The new law being passed, which contemplates providing for a hydrographic survey of the western States and Territories is bound to help Nevada if it ever becomes a law. If Uncle Sam doesn't feel inclined to help the State out in this matter he can well afford to turn over all the Government land to the State, and the State could do the work itself.
Reno is interested in that Eagle Lake scheme of Cap. Merrill's. If a town grows up there it will help the business men of Reno. The narrow gauge railroad leading out of Reno will go right by the town which is being established there. It will give Reno a new market and is bound to increase its prosperity. The success of tapping Eagle Lake may encourage the projectors of a like scheme for tapping Lake Tahoe.
Dick Kelly, who used to be a stockbroker in Carson, told me the other day that he had just returned from Nevada, and that he found times up there better than he had expected. He said the chances are good for developments in some of the Comstock mines this autumn.
"In the north, the south end, or the middle?" I asked.
"Well, it looks more like the south end just now, but all of them will be helped."

This information has encouraged me to hold onto my half interest in a block of Belcher stock (five shares) on which Pat McCourt and I hold an option.
I never saw such a campaign as this. There is more argument and less bluster than ever before. You can hear the tariff discussed wherever you go, in the restaurants, hotels, drug stores and other public places. Even the newboys discuss high tariff and low tariff. Most of them are so much in favor of a high tariff that they are trying to boycott the Evening Post for coming out as a two-cent paper. Colonel Warren J. Sheridan maintains his standing as a consistent Democrat, yet he advocates his determination to go on a high tariff if Cleveland is elected. But joking aside, there is much uncertainty in the situation, so much that some leading Republicans believe the Democrats will win, while at the same time many prominent Democrats are convinced that the Republicans will take the prize.
New York State is yet the pivotal point, of course. It may be that a small thing would change the result there. Last election 600 votes would have given the State to Blaine, that is, if they had been counted. There is a chance for the Republicans to make ten times that number of votes for themselves without costing a dollar. All they have to do is to insist on Whitelaw Reid discharging his non-union printers and employing Union printers in their stead.
Here is a paragraph cut from the Chicago Inter-Ocean, which, I think, refers to a young lady who grew to womanhood in Virginia City and Bodie: "The best speech made at a recent Republican ratification meeting at Spokane Falls, Washington Territory, was that delivered by Miss Florence Molinelli, a young actress."
Here is another, from the New York Sun, which shows that school affairs are conducted in New York much the same as they are in Nevada: "It is an open secret that there are a number of women teaching in New York public schools that are worth $50,000 to $100,000 in their own right."
Some Nevada teachers are so modest that they would deny being so rich as this. The facts are well known, however. You ought to have seen the Nevada schoolmarm during the recent meeting of the National Educational Association. It would have done you good. They were in pleasing contrast with the teachers from the Eastern States. The expense of coming from the Eastern States is so great that only those who had been teaching for years could afford the trip. Those from the East were therefore old and careworn. Our Nevada girls were like blooming roses and budding plinks, compared to those Eastern hollyhocks and sunflowers. But did the Nevada teachers attend the convention? somebody has asked. Not much. Professor Brown of the University and State Superintendent Dovey went around to the hall when they were down on the programme for speeches, but the others spent most of their time at receptions or picnics, and in the parks. That was where they showed good sense.
Judge W. H. Beatty, who was one of Nevada's Supreme Judges for a number of years, is now the Republican nominee for Supreme Judge in this State. Nevada people will all remember that big fight in the Republican convention at Carson nearly eight years ago, when Judge Beatty, Judge G. M. Sabin and Col. Bob Taylor were the candidates. The balloting was kept up for two days, and finally Judge Beatty was nominated, but the bitter feelings engendered in the convention were fatal to his chances for election, and he was defeated by Judge Belknap. No one believes that either Judge Sabin or Judge Taylor were to be blamed for that, however. I think they acted in good faith, but were not able to control their friends on election day. Judge Beatty has been endorsed by the American party of California in the present struggle. This will be a big help to him.

The reporters say that Judge Sabin was the only judge on the bench who was not scared last Monday when Col. R. H. Lindsay has been indicted, raised such a row in the United States Circuit Court. There is no man in California who is so thoroughly feared as ex-Judge Terry. If you don't think so, just look over the papers the day after his little episode before the militia, and try to find a condemnation of his act. Not a word. Terry says he will see Field and Sawyer later. They have both lived on the frontier a long time, and possibly may try to see him first.

Mr. G. P. Vance, who used to own a half-interest in the Reno Stockman, and the man who lost his father the other day. An old gentleman passed away quietly and peacefully after three days sickness. The body was taken to Eureka, Humboldt Bay, for burial. WELLS DRURY.

San Francisco, Sept. 4, 1888.

PROBABLE NOMINEES

Of the Democratic County Convention Which Meets To-morrow.
The Democrats of Washoe county will hold their Convention here to-morrow. Since the Republican Convention Democratic aspirants for office have become quite numerous, and it is now thought that there will be little or no difficulty experienced in selecting a ticket. Every office is spoken for with the exception of Treasurer, and the managers are now on a still hunt for a patriot willing to test the strength of the Republican nominee. While the names of the probable nominees are not mentioned above a whisper by the party leaders, a little bird this morning told a GAZETTE representative that the ticket, which is appended, would be selected by the Convention. It is as follows:

For Senator, George W. Mapes.
For Assemblymen, N. A. Hummel of Wadsworth, Capt. A. D. Griffin and P. H. Mulcahy.
For Sheriff, J. J. Flint.
For Recorder, J. B. Williams.
For Clerk, Charles Gulling.
For District Attorney, C. A. Jones or Judge Waldo.
For Commissioner (long term), George Alt of Glendale or George Andrews.
For Commissioner (short term), Jim Gregory, George Fraser, and Russell, all of Wadsworth, and W. D. Harden are mentioned.

For Justice of the Peace, Jesse Longabaugh.
For Constable, John Harrington.
For Public Administrator, H. I. Brown.

At the Bar.

Prominent Democrat.—What do I think about Cleveland's Retaliatory message? Why the blankety-blank, blank of a blank! If I knew but half of what he don't know about "How to be a President" I would be wiser than Ayesha. Solomon's wisdom wouldn't be a circumstance to it! Blankety blank blank — blank — him to blank! The — — —!! The — — — (Red fire—Liquid in glass turns green—Bluish vapor—Strong odor of sulphur—Quick curtain.)

Grand Military Review.

The Journal says it is generally understood that Governor Stevenson has ordered a review of the military at Reno, on Wednesday of Fair week. This will bring the five companies of Western Nevada out, and prove an interesting occasion to all concerned. The State Fair Directors will help the affair out by giving $150 for shooting prizes—$500 from each company, of which $100 goes to the first and $50 to the second.

The Biting Tongue.

Slander attacks us from behind. The bite is rarely felt unless it is malignant and persistent. Disease, too, often steals upon us through a vital channel. The air we breathe affects the lungs—if it be malarious it enters the blood, if it change too quickly the temperature it produces disease of the throat, etc. Whether Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is taken to prevent or to remedy the various forms of disease produced by miasma, such as intermittent fever, dumb ague, acute or bilious remittent, it is and ever has proved to be an effective and thorough remedy, which does not only ameliorate the symptoms of the malady of this type, but eradicates their cause. Dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, bladder and kidney troubles are among the humanity-afflicting troubles which it promptly relieves and ultimately removes.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle she had been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus wrote W. C. Hamrick & Co. of Shelby, N. C.—Get a trial bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

Diarrhoea of the stomach, liver and kidneys can be cured by restoring the blood to a healthy condition through the vitalizing and cleansing action of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the safest, most powerful and most highly concentrated alterative available to the public.

Pneumonia can be quickly and permanently cured by adding the power of the Sarsaparilla to the Sarsaparilla. (They contain no opium.) Price 75 cents. Sold by Wm. Plummer. All genuine Abietene preparations bear the fac-simile signature of D. F. Fryer.

JIM GILMORE.

The Notorious Dive-keeper Again in Trouble.
Jim Gilmore, the keeper of a resort on Center street, and his wife, were arrested yesterday for keeping a disorderly house on complaint of Mrs. J. Miller, landlady of the Russ House. This is not the first time Gilmore has been arrested on the same charge, but heretofore he has been punished lightly. This time it is the intention of the complainant and authorities to thoroughly prosecute the case, and every effort will be made to convict the prisoners.

Upon being brought before Justice Young yesterday afternoon, Gilmore launched a tirade of abuse at the head of that official, who promptly committed him to jail for contempt of court. This morning Gilmore apologized to the Judge for the outbreak and gave as an excuse that he had been drinking. The Judge accordingly did not fine him as he at first contemplated, thinking that the night in jail was sufficient punishment.

To the charge of keeping a disorderly house the Gilmores pleaded not guilty, and will have a jury trial on Tuesday next. Col. R. H. Lindsay has been retained to conduct the prosecution, and it is to be hoped that he will succeed in his efforts to convict the defendants. Wherever Gilmore has pitched his tent, trouble has followed. Reno has no use for people of his ilk, and the sooner the community is rid of him the better.

May for $5 a Ton.

Some time ago the GAZETTE stated that certain farmers had announced their determination to hold on to their hay unless they were offered $10 a ton for it. Now comes James Sullivan, who says that the men who had come to that determination were the possessors of only a few hundred tons, and were hawking the market for speculative purposes. He says that he has over 700 tons of hay, which he will feed to stock at $8 per ton, and will accept the offer of the first man who makes one at that figure. His hay is as good as any grown in this vicinity, his corals are in perfect order, and are supplied with the purest water obtainable. Mr. Sullivan says he may want the earth, but does not care to have a barbed-wire fence around it, hence his determination to sell at $8 a ton in the stack.

District Court Proceedings.

In the District Court to-day the following named citizens were sworn in to serve as Grand Jurors: H. H. Beck (Foreman), S. O. Wells, A. H. Barnes, W. L. Coffin, C. J. Brooks, H. J. Thiyes, William Thompson, H. Davis, L. L. Crockett, J. E. Shannon, W. M. Havenor, M. E. Ward, W. H. Coughlin, Frank Bell, C. T. Bender, W. J. Luke and E. A. Moore.

True bills were found as follows: Charles Hamburg, accused of stealing a horse, the property of T. G. Herman of Wadsworth, for grand larceny, and R. P. Williams, accused of stealing trifles from a cabinet belonging to John Richardson, for burglary.

Tobias Cohen, a native of Germany, was admitted to citizenship on the testimony of Sol Levy and Morris Ash.

A Jockey's Downfall.

Patsy Duffy, the once famous jockey, is now an inmate of the county jail, where he will remain for the next ten days for stealing a bottle of whisky. A few years ago Duffy's services were in demand on every race-course in the land, but his dissolute habits soon ruined him and now he is a wreck. Times when he commanded a salary of $7,500 a year; to-day he cannot pay a fine of $10.

Mamuel is Pleased.

The Carson Appeal says: The old political feud down in Washoe has been settled amicably in the Republican ranks and there are no mugwumps there this year. A very strong ticket has been nominated and the Washoe Republicans will present a strong front to the enemy, and they expect to sweep the county by a large majority.

To Our Patrons.

Our place of business will be closed from Wednesday to Friday at 6 P. M. F. LEVY & BAO.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of ten years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my twenty years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the kidneys, liver or blood. Only half a dollar a bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

The Love that Lives.

"Youth fades, love droops, the leaves of friendship fall—And mother's secret hope outlives them all." She will not believe her dimpled darling must die. The baby eyes look to her for help—and there is help. Hasten to the nearest druggist and procure Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and your child may be restored, for it cures consumption, which is only scrofula of the lungs, if taken in time, as readily as it cures scrofula affecting other parts and organs. Don't delay.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

The value of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in the protection it affords from the dangers of pulmonary disorders, cannot be over-estimated. Mr. C. K. Phillips, Pittsburg, Pa., writes: "About three years ago I had severe Laryngitis, which resulted in chronic hoarseness. By the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral I have since entirely regained my health." Mr. Henry Russell, Excelsior Printing Co., New York, writes: "Influenza became epidemic in my neighborhood. Several members of my family suffered severely with it, all of whom took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and were cured by it in a few days. It is a wonderful medicine for Influenza. Too much cannot be said in its favor."

E. M. Sargent, 41 Andover St., Lowell, Mass., says: "I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral about the year 1842, as a family medicine, for Coughs and Colds, and have always kept it in my house since that time. I consider it the best remedy that can be had for these complaints." Dr. J. B. Robertson, Clayton, N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family and practice for a number of years, and have no hesitation in recommending it. It is an admirable preparation, and well-qualified to do all that is claimed for it." E. J. Stiers, Germantown, N. C., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best Cough preparation I ever saw. It gives instant relief."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

It strikes at the foundation of all Pulmonary diseases, is without a rival as an expectorant, and is a sure cure for the most obstinate Coughs and Colds. L. ## A CHARMING WIDOW.

"The idea of that little thing being a widow!"

"And a widow of four years' standing! It fairly takes one's breath away. She doesn't look a day over fifteen."

"Except in a strong light. In a strong light she would be taken for every day of twenty-one. I never settle upon a woman's age until I have seen her in a strong light."

This rather pointed remark from the lips of Miss Pickett, a spinster whose age was frankly beyond compare, seemed to produce an electric effect. Every woman on the piazza, as though suddenly reminded of a neglected duty, began carefully protecting her eyes from the glare of the sky.

"I wonder if she will get the Englishman," began the first speaker again. "She is putting in some pretty hard work. Her slightest glances are the incarnation of flattery."

"A great mistake. Never give a man more than he expects—you will only bore him."

"I am not so sure of that. A man is a very weak thing."

"Well, mark my word—he doesn't mean anything; he is only amusing himself."

A boarding-house in Santa Barbara, even when nestled amidst all the luxuriance of semi-tropical California, is quite like other boarding houses after all. It contained the usual abundance of idle women, the usual scarcity of vigorous men, the usual superfluity of gossip.

So it happened that the boarders at Radcliffe Mansion—which, by the way, was no more of a mansion than any respectable two-story building, but was burdened with that title in deference to the prevailing Californian tendency to make everything greater than it is—were all more or less interested in Mrs. Cora Tyrrell.

Mr. Tyrrell sat opposite me at the table, and I used to watch her in a sort of amaze that anyone could be so young and fresh and fair and yet be widowed. Her form was absurdly slight for a full grown woman's, while her face was as sweet and guileless as a child's.

She some way reminded me of a pansy, particularly when she wore a slightly flaring hat, its dusky brim setting off to perfection the transparency of her complexion, the soft baby-like rings of her hair, the large, tender, pathetic eyes.

Beauty of this sort wins women as well as men. Even Miss Pickett, noted for the severity of her mental atmosphere, was subjugated. Not a woman grudged Mrs. Tyrrell her beauty, but several drew the line at the Englishman. Feminine generosity has its limits.

You see Percy Elliott was the only eligible man at Radcliffe Mansion—eligible in the world's acceptance of the term, which has a well-defined reference to an irreproachable bank account—and it was hard to watch him slowly disappear down the widow's little throat.

He was a tall, monomaniacal young fellow, quite convinced of his own importance, after the fashion of his countrymen. A certain narrowness of chest told why he was wintering in this far western land; and frequent horseback rides with Mrs. Tyrrell told that he believed in mingling business with pleasure.

She was a wonderful horsewoman, riding as easily without the saddle as with it, and jumping any fence without a tremor. These equestrian duets stimulated the boarders to the liveliest speculation.

Cora certainly was not overburdened with money, though her dress and jewels skillfully concealed the deficiency. Jewels of every description she utterly eschewed; but the gloom of her crepe was exquisitely relieved by flowers.

She was never without flowers upon her breast; at first modest demure violets, suggestive of widowhood; then as the days wore on, roses—white for a long time, and finally pink.

I came to measure the progress of her affair with Mr. Elliott by these roses; when the pink ones appeared I was as excited as a girl over her first offer.

It was about this time that the boarders learned through a cousin of Elliott's, a lad who had accompanied him from England, that there was another factor in this interesting case. He said Percy was engaged to an English girl and was to be married the following winter.

My woman's curiosity so far, got the better of my manners that I finally spoke to Cora about it. She looked at me quietly for a moment, and then murmured:

"Yes, I know."

"Then it is true?" I asked, eagerly.

"That is Mr. Elliott's affair," she answered with a shade of reproof.

The boarders, as if moved by one common impulse, persisted in declaring that Elliott "didn't mean anything."

"Of course he doesn't," getting all the fun he can out of it," observed one experienced matron; "but marriage is quite another matter."

Then there was the English girl—or, rather, the rumor of her.

But I was not so sure about it. To me it seemed very plain that from marked indifference this monomaniacal Englishman had gradually worked into vivid interest, and as time wore on I could have sworn that Mrs. Tyrrell was becoming a necessity to him.

He teased and tormented and even bullied the little widow, but at the same time he began to follow her every movement with his eyes, to play with his soap until she appeared at table, to wonder in his replies whenever he was addressed.

Largely he was at all times, but there is a natural and an affected languor, and it seemed to me that the less he retained the one the more he cultivated the other.

Few men can resist the daily presence of a tender eye raised in appeal to their superior manhood—of an artless innocence needing constant correction from their large knowledge of the world.

Miss Pickett and Mr. Elliott were always at loggerheads. Her keen sallies were continually wounding his self-love; his languid assumption of superiority was a perpetual insult to her progressive womanhood; and so their mutual antipathy gradually expanded into solid hatred.

Miss Pickett was too thoroughly feminine not to be aggressive in her hostility, so when I observed her closeted with Mrs. Tyrrell for two hours one day, I easily guessed what it meant.

It all came out the next evening, on the hill behind the house, whither Cora, Elliott, and I had strolled. Mrs. Tyrrell leaned back against a friendly mound and looked out into the night—none of those exquisite, luminous, distinctly Californian nights.

The accents of a thousand sweet—the of the orange-blossoms, rising above the rustle of the palm, the pine, the eucalyptus, and the nightingale, the song of the chortle—drifted upward to charm our senses.

Cora sighed a little and then began:

"Miss Pickett, I did not understand you at all—that I was too much setting myself up. She said she liked to play with such women, but that they suspected most those women who treated them best."

"Miss Pickett, be hanged!" burst forth from Elliott.

"Then you don't think I have done so very wrong?" and her velvet eyes looked into his with a troubled sweetness.

"Wrong! Humph!"

"How dreadful it seems to never trust anyone! I believe I would rather be always deceived than come to that."

"You see," turning to me, "I am strangely situated. I am a widow, and yet I am scarcely more than a girl."

"You never have heard about my marriage?" It occurred four years ago, when I was only seventeen, and still at school. Mr. Tyrrell was kind to me—and I was romantic.

"We were married on a Friday, and on Monday my husband was summoned to Mexico on business. It was August, and they feared I would take the fever, so it was decided that I must remain at home. Some time in September came a telegram announcing Mr. Tyrrell's death."

"A wife of but four weeks, away from my husband when he died—imagine my feelings! For over three years I have lived in seclusion. Now you can understand how natural it is that I should make mistakes."

In her eyes rose a mist that was dangerous to the Englishman's cherished composure. He breathed hard, cleared his throat, and shifted his position. Finally a little smile stole over Cora's lips, and she gave him a glance that was like a caress—I often told her she blushed with her eyes.

The next day who should arrive but the English girl! This advent, it seems, was the result of an arrangement made some months before in England, and which Elliott had not had the nerve to discountenance.

I happened to be passing through the hall when Harriett Norton clasped her lover's hand in greeting. No words are needed to tell a sensitive woman when she has lost a man's affection. Harriett knew it then and there—I could tell by the pallor that overspread her face, and the sudden drawn look about her mouth.

Within ten days she had departed, accompanied by her dignified aunt, who acted as chaperon. Yet, though she was a reserved girl, I had learned to esteem her even in that short time.

"It is very strange," she said, "Percy and I have known each other from childhood. I believed I could trust him utterly." Here a tear welled up in her clear true eyes. "I have never loved any man but him."

"We were to have been married next winter. I wonder how it will seem never to see him again."

Then her gaze wandered over to the softly tinted mountain, and she seemed almost to forget my presence.

"He is honorable after a fashion, and he would live up to his word, but I do not care for a promise after the life has gone out of it."

It was perhaps a month after this that Mr. Elliott's engagement to Mrs. Tyrrell was formally announced.

Cora went about with a liteness subtly suggestive of happiness, yet with no undue demonstrations of triumph. There was even an undercurrent of sadness running through it all as though she realized that her gain was another's loss. Her conduct began to be pronounced admirable even by those who at first had eyed her severely. Society forgave almost anything sooner than an exhibition of bad taste.

Late one afternoon we were all out on the piazza, Elliott among us waiting for Cora to come down, when a tall stalwart fellow strode up to the door.

There was a certain boldness in his stride, a certain freedom in the swing of his arms, which bespoke determination.

"He asked for Mrs. Tyrrell. She happened to come out just then, looking even more dainty than usual, in her clinging riding habit. But as she caught sight of the visitor she stopped short, as though turned to stone."

"Well, Cora," he began.

Still she did not speak, but simply stared rigidly before her, her cheeks as white as the flowers at her breast.

"I don't call this exactly a tropical greeting," he continued.

Somebody laughed. Cora's pallor changed to a hot red. She shut her teeth together with a snap.

"I thought you were in Australia," she gasped.

"Yes, I know you did," he rejoined with asperity. "But you see I am back again. You might as well pack up and come along."

"I will not," she answered, digging her little heels into the floor.

"You will not?" quietly. "I think you will."

At this Percy Elliott arose, and walking resolutely up to the man said:

"Understand that you are dealing with a man as well as a defenseless woman."

"And what business is it of yours?" retorted the stranger coolly. "I reckon a man has a right to his own wife."

We looked at each other aghast.

But it proved only too true. This was Mrs. Tyrrell's husband; she had been married ten years, and worst of all, she was thirty-three years old!

The Santa Barbara Voltigeer ferreted it all out and served it up in three double-leaded columns. Its diligence also discovered that soon after meeting Elliott the enterprising widow had secretly instituted a suit for divorce, Tyrrell retaining from Australia barely in time to quash the proceedings.

"She's the surest woman on the whole coast," he proudly observed to the interested reporter—"if I am speaking of my own property."

We saw Mrs. Tyrrell no more. It was our last glimpse of those appealing eyes, that soft silken hair.

Elliott left precipitately for England. I hope that Harriett Norton was strong enough to withstand his contrite tears. But a woman's heart is a curious thing.

A Good Sea Story.

An English lady, who visited America many years ago, used to tell the following story:

On the voyage, she was one day shocked by seeing a ship's officer knock down one of the crew, who was inclined to mutiny. So much did the sight affect her that she retreated to her stateroom, and did not again appear on deck until land was sighted.

Then she perceived at the wheel the man who had received the blow.

Approaching him she asked, with deep sympathy:

"How is your head now?"

"Weak and by no means," was the answer.
